

Business model

The asset management industry today:

- Geopolitical instability, global warming, rise of social inequalities.
- Slow economic growth, low interest rates, deglobalization.
- Rise of ESG and passive management, increased regulation, digitalization, fee pressures.

Our resources

An independent, AAA-rated shareholder

New York Life is a Fortune 100[®] company and in the top 35 in terms of AUM worldwide

Loyal, talented people

560+ investment professionals with 11+ years at Candriam on average (15+ years for the Management team)

A strong corporate culture

Convictions and responsibility at the heart of everything we do

A large variety of expertise

ESG, Equities, Fixed Income, Emerging Markets, Asset Allocation, Absolute Return, Real Estate and – through New York Life's boutiques – Private Equity

A global investment approach

Conviction-based, long-term investments. In-house research, and a robust investment process based on a rigorous risk management framework. Active engagement and proxy voting

Our mission statement:
“Investing for tomorrow”

We are truly committed to put sustainability at the heart of everything we do

We believe that helping our clients channel their assets responsibly will accelerate change towards a more sustainable future

Sustainable value created for our key stakeholders

For our clients

Financial strength, risk-adjusted, sustainable performance, conviction-driven investment solutions, constant innovation, social impact, CSR and ESG awareness

For our people

Engagement, professional and personal development, talent management, CSR awareness

For our community

Candriam Institute for Sustainable Development, research and education in ESG, better healthcare and environment, social inclusion

For the environment

Carbon neutrality, waste management, climate-related investment solutions, supporting active NGOs, reforestation, capturing CO₂ emissions, clean power generation